Capt. Pickett Brought Bown from East Eighty-eighth Street to Take His Piace On Byrnen's Recommendation-Resolutions Passed by the Commissioners as a Result of the Recent Talk with the Mayor

The fruit of the meeting on Tuesday, between the Police Commissioners and the Mayor, when the latter summoned the Commissioners to his office in the City Hall, was a batch of resolutions passed at a special executive ses-sion of the Police Board resterday morning. covering the enforcement of city ordinances elative to clean streets and disorderly houses A secondary result was the appearance before Superintendent Byrnes of all the precinct com-manders, and the subsequent removal of Capt. Max F. Schmittberger from the Tenderloin and the assignment there of Capt. Patrick H. Pickett of the East Eighty-eighth street staten. These matters made a very busy day at

The special session of the Police Board began at 11:30 and lasted more than an hour. At the expiration of half that time the Superintendent was sent for, and he remained in conference with the Commissioners until the close of the session. Afterward the Board made public the resolutions that had been passed, but each of the Commissioners declined to speak upon the

The first resolution was as follows: Resolved, That the attention of the Superintendent be called to the verbal statement of the hisyor to the Commissioners of Police, at his office, on the 8th inst., relative to the throwing of ashes and garbage upon the sidewalks and house districts, and that receptacles are not provided for such materials in accordance with the Sanitary code; and that he be directed to take all measures within his power for the enforcement of the ordinances and the Sanitary code, and to report what, if any, amendments should, in his opinion, be made to such laws and ordinances for their better enforcement."

The second resolution was also an echo of the meeting in the Mayor's office. The official state-ment given out by the Board says that "the attention of the Commissioners was also called by the Mayor at said conference to the complaints in the public press of general laxity in the enforcement of the laws relating to the sup-pression of gambling houses, policy shops, and other disorderly houses, since the adjournment adopted these resolutions:

Resolved. That the Superintendent be directed to make a thorough investigation of these statements made in the public press, and report to this Board the result of such investi-

Resolved, That the Superintendent be directed to request the editors of the newspapers in which such articles appeared, to furnish him in detail with the information of the existence of the places to which they have referred."

The last resolution referred to a specific com-plaint made against two houses. In the words of the Board's statement "the Mayor also called the attention of the Commissioners to a complaint against the flat at 261 West Thirty-ninth etreet, and to a disorderly house at 612 Seventh avenue." To dispose of this matter the Board adopted this resolution:

Resolved, That these matters be referred to the Superintendent for investigation and re-

The interest of the day, however, centred about the announcement of the transfer of three about the announcement of the transfer of three captains, which announcement was made imidiately after the session. The transfers are: capt. See mittberger, from the West Thirtieth is rest station to Kingsbridge; Capt. Pickett, from the East Eighty-eight street station, and Capt. West Thirtieth street station, and Capt. Whether the tree station is the West Thirtieth street station, and Capt. Whether the tree station, and Capt. Whether the street station, and Capt. Whether the session of the Board the Superintendent. After the session of the Board the Superintendent, who had previously summoned all the Inspectors and Captains, had a talk with them in his office. It is supposed that he gave them explicit directions as to the enforcement of city ordinances. The attitude of the Superintendent was regarded around Headquarters as signifying that the Mayor has given him the opportunity of showing what he would do if invited to take charge of a reorganization of the force.

The assignment of Capt. Pickett to the Tenderloin was a surprise to every one, including the Captain himself. When a Sun reporter saw him last night at the East Eighty-eighth street station he had already packed up his belongings and was about bidding good-by to his old station. He said:

"I suppose I must regard it as an honor to be put in charge of the Tenderloin precinct, but, to matter, which, of course, I hadn't. I'm pretty familiar with the Tenderion, as I am with every precinct from the Battery to the Harlem, because of my service in the Inspectors' office, and I tell you there's no fun in commanding the fenderion. I never cared much for those fancy precincts, any now. But I'm a policeman, and I'm going to do my duty."

When asked if he had any plans for the weeding out of the Tenderloin, the Captain stopped smiling and replied:

I'm under the Superintendent's orders. The tranter is such a surprise to me that I've ladly had time to think. Of course, I'll be practically a new man in the precinct for twhile, but I'll learn, and I shall always do my duty."

Capt. Pickett is a Tammany man, and he was appointed Captain by Commissioner Sheehan. Le was born in this city in April, 1843, and was spointed in the public schools. He was a paper issiger and decorator, but joined the force at the acc of 22, on Oct. 11, 1865. He was made a roundaman in 1868, and a Sergeant two years lover. For over six years he was detailed at leadquarters as aide to Inspectors Mc-leiment and Thorn. Afteward he was traisferred at his own request to the last Fifty-first street station. As Sergeant he was for four years at the City Hall station, and in 1890, when sixty policemen were detailed to service in the Street Cleaning Irepartment to enforce the law against scattering garhage and papers, he was put in charge of the squad. They were known as paper chasers. Two years ago, when he was examined for promotion, he stood second on the eligibilist, and ha was made Captain on Dec. 23, 1892. Ever size he has been in charge of the East Eighty-eighth street station, where he has made a good record. Among the arrests he has made in that time have been those of six murderers. No charge has ever stood against him on the books of the department.

Capt. Schmittberger spent last evening in the Tenderion in saying good-by to his friends, hie moved all his personal belongings from the station house early in the afternoon. At 6 o clock the Captain was at his desk in full uniform. He made a brief speech to the men, and said he had never seen a liner or more obedient set of men than the policemen of the Nineteenth. The Captain refused to speak on the subject of his transfer except to say that it came in the lature of a surprise. apt. Pickett is a Tammany man, and he was

JOSEPH BLAHA'S SUICIDE.

Disgraced by Arrest, His Wife Bend, and His Children in an Institution.

Joseph Blaha, a Bohemian cigarmaker, took his life yesterday afternoon by cutting his throat and severing an artery in his left wrist at his home on the top floor of 439 East Seventybecome street. He used a large carving knife, and almost out his head from his body. He was 32 years old, and a widower.
About two months ago he had trouble with his wife, who had him arrested and sent on the als wife, who had him arrested and sent on the Island. While he was away his wife died, and their two children were sent to an institution. Ever since his return he has been despondent, and that the heightors more than once that he hasait to take his life. About 2 o'clock yester-day afterhoots some of the tenants heard him greaning, and going is found him lying on the sed it in post of blood. He died before the arrival of an ambulance.

In his room were found $1.8 in money and a letter written in Bohemian and addressed to the Secretary of Yarolim Lodge, C. S. P. S. 31, of the Bohemian order.

IN THE WORLD OF SOCIETY. Mr. Beyow Stres a Dinner Party-Das of the Southern Cotilion.

Last evening, for the first time since the death of Mrs. Depew, two years ago, Chauncey M. Depew gave a dinner party of considerable size at his residence in West Fifty-fourth street. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, William K. Vanderbilt, Mr. and Mrs. John Jacob Astor, Mr. and Mrs. Ogden Mills, Mr. and Mrs. William D. Sloane, Mr. and Mrs. J. Town-send Burden, Dr. and Mrs. W. Seward Webb, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Bend, Mrs. Adair, the Marquise de Talleyrand Perigord, Mrs. Paran Stevens, Ward McAllister, Miss Turnure, and George W. Smalley. The dinner was in honor of William K. Vanderbilt, who expects to return to Europe in a short time, although it was not a

A large number of people in this city of Southern birth, connection, or sympathy, who formed themselves into an organization known as the Southern Cotillons at the beginning of the season, danced at Fherry's last evening. George H. Sullivan, W. Laird Goldsborough, E. Bancker Smedes, Percy A. Pickerell, James L. Johnson, and Heth Larton constitute the Board f Governors of the series of dances of which last night's was the second. Mrs. Algernon S. Sullivan, Mrs. Hugh S. An elaborate supper divided the evening into two sections, the later portion of which was devoted to a cotillon. Among the subscribers to the dances are: Mrs. Jefferson Davis, Miss Winnie Davis, Geo. Fitzhugh Lee, Thomas Nelson Page, Gen. Charles J. Anderson, and Col. son Page, Gen. Charles J. Anderson, and Col. Joseph L. Stern of Richmond, ex-Gov. Hugh S. Thompson of South Carolina, Col. and Mrs. John C. Calhoun, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh R. Garden, Gen. and Mrs. T. M. Logan, Dr. and Mrs. William M. Polk, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Page, the Misses Buchanan, Lleut. M. C. Butler, U. S. N., and W. de H. Washington. Two more dances will follow on the evenings of Jan. 30 and Feb. 20.

A meeting of the theatre club formed by the Misses Hidden, dinner parties given by Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Fish and Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Hoyt, and the large atternoon receptions of Mrs. Ed-ward W. Crowded into this day will be the meetings of the dancing class organized by Mrs. Henri Braem and of the Fortnightly Dancing Class, dinner parties by Mrs. J. Hampden Robb, Mrs. Robert G. Remsen, Mrs. Elbridge T. Gerry, and a reception by Mrs. Charles Abercrombie and her sister, Miss Osgood.

J. Charles Arter, the artist, whose studio re-ceptions two seasons ago were among the bright-est incidents of the winter, has returned from Europe. On Tuesday Mr. Arter gave the first of a series of musical afternoons. Kirk Mathews played piano solos and Mrs. Ida Gray Scott and Miss Hilke of the cathedral choir sang.

The members of the Michaux Bicycle Club are clists indoors for two weeks, and crowded ors have been the result. A band of Hun-rian musicians, a collation, and several other tractions will make complete a bicycle tea.

The Banquet Committee of the Society of the Sons of the Revolution is planning to make the annual dinner of the society on the evening of Jan. 18, an occasion to be long remembered. The society has selected that date to honor the army and navy in the persons of Gen. Miles and Admiral Gherardi. The battle of Cowpens and the engagement near Kingsbridge occurred on Jan. 17, and reference to those events will be made at the banquet.

The residents in West Thirty-seventh street, in the vicinity of Sherry's, are congratulating themselves that they have partially, if not wholly, won their case against the carriage "barker" nulsance. Sanitary Superintendent Roberts seemed satisfied yesterday that the noise made by carriage number callers had been abated. The barkers have been admonished to call out the numbers in softer tones. Just how the lusty-toned baseo-profundo barker is going to transform his voice into a genite faisetto without sacrificing the dignity of his profession is a matter that is puzzling him exceedingly.

Some very picturesque parties, the sanctity of which have not been invaded by the gentlemen, have been given lately. A few afternoons ago a well-known hostess entertained a company of women acquaintances. The hostess and a few ladies, who received with her, wore the costumes of the high-class woman of Tanglers, perfectly copied in every particular except that the veils were drawn. The tea room is in itself a sumptuous apartment with heavy rich hangings and deep upholstered furniture. Low divans, covered with cushions of innumerable hues, had been placed around the room, and on the divans the hostess and her few guests reclined in Oriental fashion, drank tea, and exchanged gossip.

MARTENS WITNESSES liso Capt, Manghey, Ward Men Who Know Things, and Comstock's Accusers, the Streeps Lexow Testimony in Great Bulk

The Over and Terminer Grand Jury, which ras sworn in before Judge Ingraham on Mouday and charged to inquire into complaints against public officers, got to work yesterday. It was understood that their work was principally directed toward Inspector Alexander S. Wil-liams and other police officials in high authority at Police Headquarters.

When the Grand Jury assembled at 11 o'clock, ex-Surrogate Rollins and Assistant District Atorney Lindsay entered the Grand Jury room, followed by attendants carrying books, some of which were said to be police station blotters having reference to the charge of blackmall made by Mrs. Mathilde Herremann against Capt. Haughey of the Forty-seventh police. Confirmation was apparently given to this by the fact that a Sergeant of Capt. Haughey's command entered the Grand Jury room soon after the books were taken in. Lucius W. Howe, the stenographer of the Lexow com-mittee, and two assistants took into the Grand Jury room voluminous transcripts of testimony taken before the Lexow committee. The doors of the room in which the Grand Jury sat, a room intended for the future use of the Tombs Police Court, were carefully guarded by uniformed officers of the Court of Over and Terminer.

Police Captain Max F. Schmittberger, who testified for an hour before the Grand Jury on Monday, resumed his testimony yesterday for a while. It was understood that he repeated his confession involving Inspector Williams, and added details. It is believed that he dwelt particularly upon his former statement that he acted as go-between for Inspector Williams and Police Captain Martens, who, he alleged, paid Inspector Williams for his promotion su sively to roundsman, Sergeant, and Captain, the price of the latter preferment being $14,000.

After Schmittberger had testified Capt, Martens vas called before the Grand Jury, an opportunity baying been afforded to him. It is understood, to deny the charge against him. Capt. Haughey was the next witness. Ex-Ward Man schell, formerly ward man for Capt. James K. Price, when attached to the Thirty-seventh street police station; Superintendent Charles G. West of the French steamship line; Richard M. Stivers, foreman of the November Grand

M. Stivers, foreman of the November Grand Jury, which considered a number of police cases; Builder Herrmann, and Louis Streep and his brother, who testified before the Lexow committee that they paid $1,000 to Anthony Comstock to stop a prosecution for printing green goods, were the next witnesses.

Former Ward Man Cases of the Kingsbridge station, who was forced by Capt. Schmittberger to apologize to a woman whose house he had investigated, was ordered by Superintendent Byrnes to go before the Grand Jury and tell his story. The Captain testified before the Lexow committee that he had been compelled by Commissioner Martin to make the policeman apologize.

missioner Martin to make the policeman apologiza.

The Grand Jury adjourned at 1:40 o'clock. They did not go into the Oyer and Terminer to be regularly disoharred by Judge Ingraham. From this it was inferred that they were not prepared to hand up any indictments. It's believed that a number of police Captains, whose names were not brought out before the Lexow committee may be involved before the Grand Jury. When the Lexow committee was about to adjourn Recorder Goff, then counsel to the committee, announced that he had in his possession considerable evidence against Captains who had not been called. This evidence, it is understood, has since been submitted to Mr. Lindsay, and will be presented to the Grand Jury.

THE CHARGE AGAINST SUPT. WEST. It Has Been Dismissed by the Collector, They Say, at the French Line Offices,

At 3:45 yesterday afternoon a short, slim young man, with sallow face and very short, flat side whiskers, hurried up the stone steps of the William street entrance to the Custom up the stairs into Deputy Collector H. DeForest laldwin's office on the second floor. The young man was the one who made that charge agains Superintendent Charles G. West of the French line pier, declaring that about two years ago West landed liquors without a Custom House permit. It was this charge that Mr. Baldwin has been investigating for the last few days. He refused yesterday to give the young man' name, and the young man, after his talk with Mr. Baldwin, avoided every one as he left the Custom House. On his visit to Mr. Baldwin the mysterious informer was greatly excited. He was disturbed that the newspapers had got the Baldwin said that he had not given the in-formation. This statement is absolutely correct. Notwithstanding Mr. Baldwin's efforts to calm the young informer, who says that "he is a member of Cant. Schmittberger's family." to calm the young informer, who says that "he is a member of Capt. Schmittberger's family." the young man was greatly excited. Deputy Collector Baldwin consulted with Collector Kilbreth, and the Collector also decided not to give the young man's name. Collector Kilbreth said that Superintendent West had called on him.

It appears that when Superintendent West first learned, a few days ago, that he had been charged with an alleged offence which occurred in Capt. Schmittberger's time, two years ago, he called on Collector Kilbreth and requested the most rigorous investigation. Ever since West gave that testimony against Schmittberger before the Lexow committee, it is said, he has been postered and dogged by detectives.

Down at the French line office in Bowling Green a representative of Agent Forget said:

"We have received word from the Custom House that the charge was raise, and we cannot magine who is behind the matter. No, we cannot give the name of the young man who talked with Mr. Baldwin. We have no not add that Sch not give the name of the young man who take with Mr. Baldwin. We can only add that St perintendent West has the fullest confidence of Mr. Forget and the French line people."

CISSY FITZGERALD'S DANCING. Justice Barrett to Decide Whether It is Unique, Peculiar, and Extraordinary." George Edwardes of the London Gaiety Thea tre moved before Justice Barrett of the Supreme Court yesterday, through Lawyer W. W. Foster, to enjoin Cissy Fitzgerald, who has been doing a skirt dance in "The Galety Girl," from acting under any other management but his own dur-ing the period of his contract with her. She was getting $50 a week under the Edwarder contract, but it is said she was to get much more from Canary & Lederer to perform in "The Twentieth Century Girl" at the Bijou. Mr. Edwardes declared that her dancing had become a feature of his play, and that her services were indispensable. Her contract required her to perform in this country for him until March 7 next, and she was further bound for an Australian tour. George W. Lederer was with her in court.

A. H. Hummel, who represented Miss Fitzgerald, said that the services of his client were not of "the unique, peculiar, and extraordinary character" required by the law where an injunction is granted at the outset. He said her name was not "displayed" on the programmes, and her part had been taken by her understudy about twenty times while the play was at Daly's. The play is now being produced without her in the West.

Justice Harrett said that the law required the services to be of such a character that the production would be seriously affected by their loss in order to grant such a preliminary injunction. He seemed inclined against granting the motion, but gave counsel further time to produce other papers. vices were indispensable. Her contract require

The party reached an altitude of 0,300 feet—two-thirds of the way to the summit—and was only turned back by the firm conviction that to push on would be certain death. A general review of the trip and its results is given in the following special despatch:

"WILKESON, Wash. Dec. 28.—The Post-Intelligencer Mount Hainler exploration expedition reached this city this afternoon after a hard ten-mile tramp over a mountain trail from Camp Comfort on the Carbon River, the last camping place. The members of the party are well and in excellent spirits, though somewhat bronzed and disfigured by reason of the intense cold and general hardships of the trip. The expedition was in every way a success, although the party did not reach the top of the mountain. Major ingraham did all that he agreed to at the time of starting out, and it has been demonstrated beyond all doubt that Mount Rainler has been in eruption, but there is no proof that the smoke and steam which have been issuing from the mountain is directly responsible for the avalunches which have changed the general appearance of the mountain.

having their feet prepared for next season's campaign. Many feet which look just too captivating for anything in shoes and stockings are not altogether lovely when exposed to view, and feminine owners of such defective extremities are now invoking the aid of the pedicurists to make them presentable. Civilization and tight shoes have inflicted many wrongs upon the human understanding, and many laddes recognize that if they are to make impressions upon the human understanding, and many laddes recognize that if they are to make impressions upon the masucline heart, as well as upon the sand, with their feet next summer, they must put themselves upon a better footing.

There are comparatively few Trilby feet in real life; few which are perfect in form and entirely free from blemish. Nevertheless, Du Maurier's rhapsody over the beauty of Trilby's foot may be to a certain extent responsible for the general note of preparation for the exhibition of feminine feet next summer. Many women who have read his novel may be anxious to prove that they too have semething in that line, not entirely unworthy of admiration. And why should not a pretty foot inspire the poet and the artist quite as much as a hand or a lady's eyebrow? Great execution has been done with the feminine foot through all the centuries. Even with its charms concealed by shoes and stockings, it has proved one of the most formidable of womanly weapons. With it woman has lured man on, and on, and on; and with it, when she has wearied of playing with him, she has administered the coup de grace. But when it shines forth next summer in all its loveliness, anadorned by anything but its own beanty, it will be simply irresistible. No bachelor will be safe at the seaside. The most hardened and cynical will capitulate at the sight of the thousands of snowy feet pattering over the sandy beach in unconventional freedom, or demurely presented for masculine inspection and approval. But what will the girls of Chicago do?

Played Craps in Church.

From the St. Louis Giobe-Democrat.

JEFFERSONVILLE, Ind., Jan. 1.—At a revival meeting in progress at the United Brethren Church an unnaual occurrence took place last night, resulting in George Perry being bodily ejected by a courageous pastor, the Rev. A. M. Colvin. No sooner had Perry entered the edifice than he walked up the centre alsie and seated himself in the midst of the congregation, where he began a game of craps with an occupant of the pow. During his discourse the pastor's attention was attracted incidentally by the snapping of fingers, and it was with difficulty that he could locate the sound. Soon his eyes centred on Perry and his companion.

Without further ceremony the reverend gentleman walked out of the pulpit to where Perry was seated. He demanded the dice and stakes, which were surrendered. The pastor then proceeded to put Perry out. He remonstrated, but Mr. Colvin whipped out a knife as a persuader. The sight of the weapen caused Perry to submit. Perry was not only taken to the threshold of the church, but the determined pastor held to his man until he was landed in Jali and a charge of disturbing a religious meeting slated against him. Perry's partner escaped. From the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

A Young Man's Nice Tact. From the Philadelphia Record.

Among the passengers on Lancaster avenue car No. 1.368 last evening, as it proceeded west from Thirty-second and Market streets, was a well-dressed young man, who sat in the corner with his cost collar turned up, indulging in a half doze. A beg lay at his feet indicating that he was returning from a journey. When the car reached the transfer station five young girls entered the car, accompanied by two young men.

entered the car, accompanied by two young men.

They had scarcely been seated when one of the girls suddenly left her seat, threw herself alongside of the young man in the corner, and, placing one arm partly around his neck, exciatmed: "Why, Cousin Emerson, you've come at last. What a fibber you are. We looked..."
She stopped, looked confused, then with a little shrick hurrisdly rejoined her companions, and burried her crimson face in her handkerchief, she had made a mistake.

The young man after recovering from his astonishment, srose from his seat, bowed respectfully to the girls' escoria, tipped his hat politely to the ladies, and got off. As the car passed on he could be seen standing in the street awaiting the next car. He had alighted to relieve the young lady of her embarrassment.

BESIEGED AND CAPTURED.

A BODT OF TRAMPS DRIVER TO BA The Pollee Batter Bown the Stout Dec with a Ballroad Tie and Thea Storm the Building-Hard Fighting on a Stairway. A gang of about twenty tramps stopped the 814 fast freight train from Jersey City, in charge of Conductor Brennan, on Tuesday night just on the outskirts of Elizabeth. The gang, securing admission to the caboose, as reported in This Sun yesterday, locked themselves and Conduc-tor Brennan in and refused to give Engineer Wood the signal to go shead. The brakemer tried to secure admission to the caboose, but the tramps prevented it. Finally despairing of get ting rid of the tramps without assistance Brake man Rorahand ran to a telephone about a quar ter of a mile from where the train was standing and telephoned to Police Headquarters in Eliz aboth that the train was being held up by a gang of men. Capt Long received this word he sent word to the Pennsylvania depot in Elizabeth to hold the next train passing in the direction of North Elizabeth until he could get a body of men aboard it. Sergeant Eimiger and Policemen Hiney, Joseph Smith, John Smith, Barry, Bishop, Schreiner, Reilly, and Lucas burried t the depot and found a train waiting to take them aboard. When North Elizabeth reached, the train stopped alongside of the freight train. The tramps saw the policemen getting off, and they got out of the caboose and ran down the dark tracks as fast as they could The police followed. The tramps finally reached disused signal tower which stands just on the boundary line of Essex and Union counties Every one of the gang made a dash for the door of this tower, but only seven could get in. When it was filled the door was slammed in the face of the others and bolted. Those of the gang who had failed to get in took to their heels again and escaped capture.

When the police came to the tower they demanded entrance. The tramps laughed at them. The police got a big rallway tie and battered the door off its hinges. Three officers sprang into the opening. No sooner had they crossed the threshold than a number of tramps made a dash

PASTOR PERRY INDIGNANT. He Accuses Descou Field's Daughter of Having Slandered Him.

MONTCLAIR, N. J., Jan. 9,-The Union Baptist Church (colored) of this town has for its pastor the Rev. William T. Perry. He declares he has been slandered by the wife and daughter of Albert Field, one of his deacons. He sent for Deacon Field to come to his study in the church on Monday night. The deacon went, and Deacon George Gordon and Brother Benjamin McQuay were also present. The pastor told Deacon Field of the remarks that he had heard originated with his daughter, and he told the deacon that with his daughter, and he told the deacon that it must stop right away, as he would not put up with it. Deacon Field denied the charges. The pastor says Deacon Field is nasty and headstrong, and that he objects to his pastor taking the advice of white friends in church matters. "Pastor Perry," said Deacon Gordon yesterday, "cannot prove that Deacon Field's daughter slandered him by even one witness." Gordon said he was present when the trouble occurred in the study Monday night. "When Deacon Field came in," said Gordon, "Pastor Perry told him that his daughter had slandered him by saying to a number of people that he acted like a jackass in the pulpit." Deacon Gordon stated that he pastor talked to Deacon Field in such a way that the deacon finally threw his hat and overcoat on the floor and started to "do up" the parson, and he would have done so if he Gordon) and Brother McQuay had not interfered and separated them.

Deacon Field's wife denied that either she or her daughter had ever slandered the pastor.

Mr. McQuay upholds the pastor and says he should have land the deacon arrested for attempting to assault him in the study. it must stop right away, as he would not put up

THE JANITOR'S PAMILY IN PERIL.

Mrs. Burns Threw Her Children from a Window and Burns Caught Them. The South Orange Field Club House was destroyed by fire at 6 o'clock yesterday morning. The fire was discovered by Mrs. Burns, the wife of the janitor, who was sleeping with her husband and two children in a room on the second floor. The house was then filled with smoke, and the flames had already eaten their way through the partition separating the room from the hall. The stairway was a mass of flames and when Janitor Burns, who was awakened by his wife, tried to make his way out with the two herself. None of the Burns family was injured.

Mrs. Burns's screams aroused the family of M.
B. Mead, a member of the club, who live near by in Vose avenue. The mother and children, who were scantily clad, were removed to Mr.
Mend's house and put to bed.

When the fire was at its height the expansion tank of the heater in the cellar exploded. The noise caused a panic among the firemen. When it was found that no one was injured by the explosion, the firemen returned. They had just settled down to work again when there were a series of short, sharp reports, caused by the explosion of a quantity of loaded shells, which were stored in a room on the lower floor. The loss, including guns, football suits, and athletic equipments of all kinds, will be $5,000. The building was insured.

The original house was built upon the frame of a barn, which was presented to the club by Mr. Edwin H. Mead about six years ago. Later the extension containing the bowling alleys was added. The club has a membership of nearly 300. A new house will be built on the site.

WHY GOODWIN COMPROMISED.

The Reinstated Roundsman Is Poor, as Was Afraid to Risk Further Delay.

There was much surprise in police circles yes terday over the report that Roundsman John W Goodwin of the Oak street station, who was re instated by the General Term on Tuesday, after an absence from duty of nearly six years, had compromised on the amount of back pay due him, forfeiting about $900. The General Term ordered the Commissioners to reinstat Goodwin and to pay him $7,194.78 back pay and costs. Goodwin accepted $5,000 back pay and costa. Goodwin accepted $5,000 back pay and $1,143.97 costs. He was officially taken into the department yesterday, and assigned to duty in the Tremont station. Lawyer Louis Grant, who had charge of Goodwin's case, explained his client's compromise with the Commissioners yesterday.

"For nearly six years," he said, "the man has been fighting this case, and during that time he sand his family have at times been in actual want. The decision of the General Term was a godsend to him, yet he knew and I knew that if the Commissioners chose they could fight the case further, and although the decision would be the same in the end, they might keep Goodwin off of the force for the next five or six months. He couldn't afford to wait that long under any circumstances, and so he compromised with the Commissioners, although he lost about $500 by doing it. Now he's nack at work, and is happy, because he can hold his head up with any man in the department."

MUNICIPAL GOVERNMENT IN GREAT BRITAIN BY ALBERT SHAW.

A Most Important, Timely, and Suggestive Work.

AT the present time, when the problem of municipal government is confronting the people of so many American cities, no more im-portant book could be put forth than this thoughtful work.

In presenting the facts which he has gathered with so much care, Dr. Shaw says that he has no intention to preserbe European remedies for American maladies nor to suggest any degree whatsoever of imitation. He believes, however, that we may gain enlightenment from the experience of others. "The art of making and administering modern cities seems not to have engaged the attention of the same order of talent in America that it has commanded in Europe."

Europe."
Dr. Shaw discusses the sanitary and street-cleaning conditions and laws of the most important cities and towns of Great Britain, including London, Manchester, Birmingham, Glasgow, and many smaller places. He describes how epidemics are met, tenements made less crowded, the city refuse cared for, pipes laid in streets, and treats of electric and gas lighting, disinfecting, attreet-sprinkling, swimming-baths, sewerage, markets, fire and police departments, finances, free libraries, parks, &c.
